Gourmet Garments

January 2023

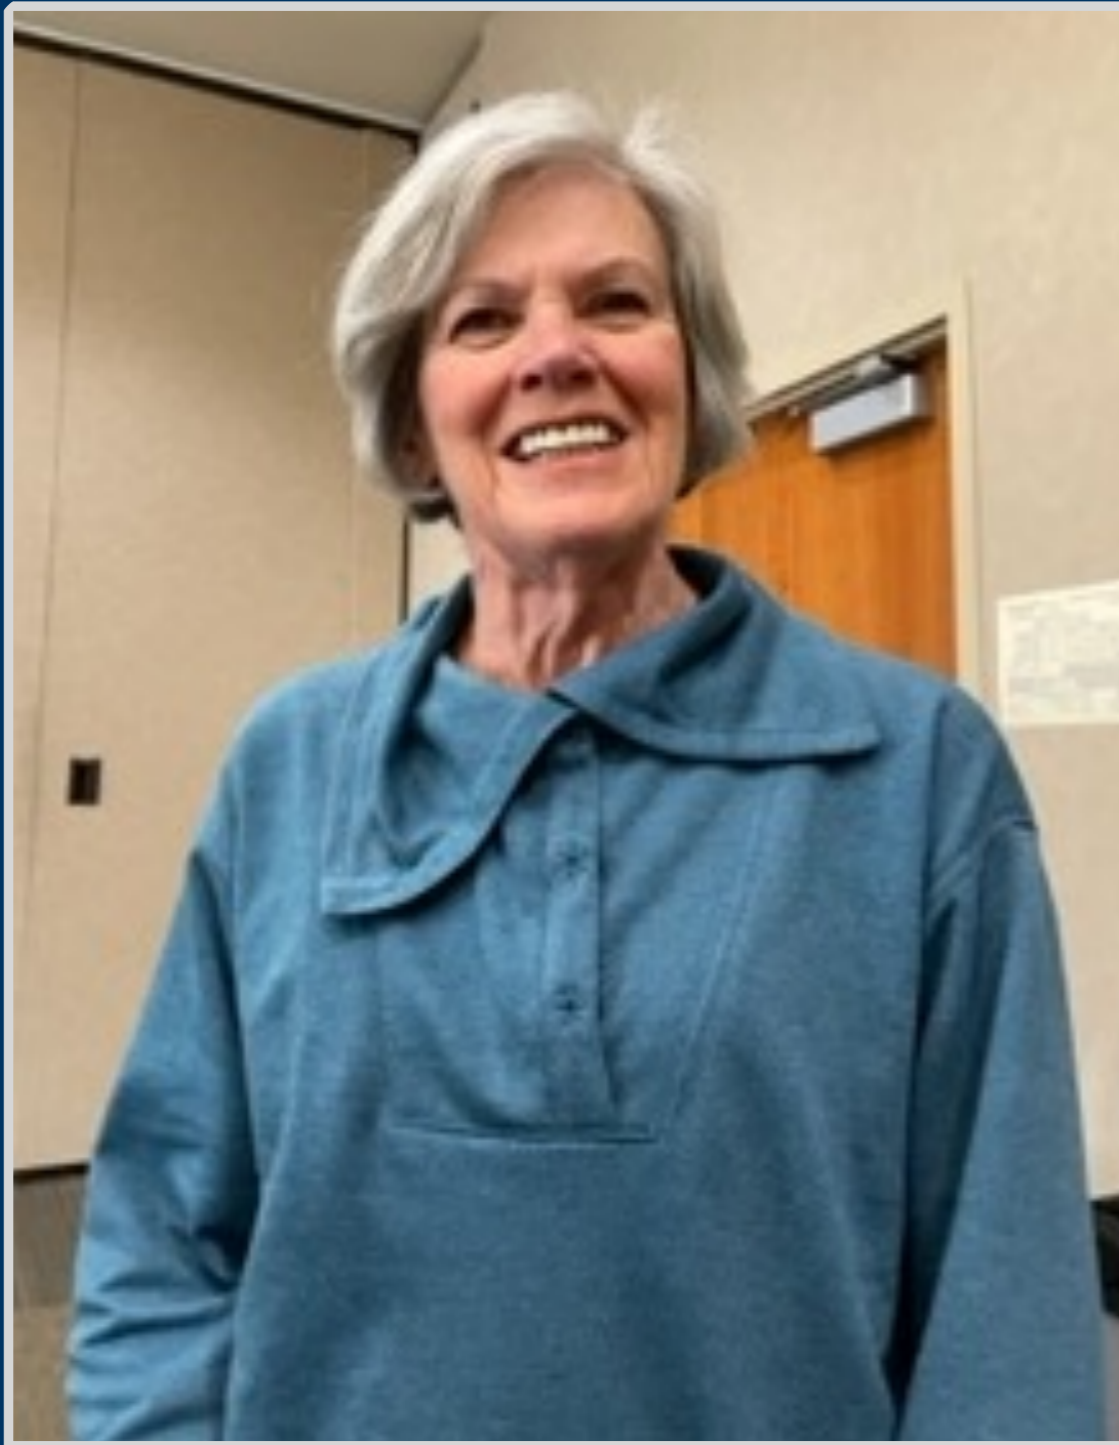

Take your sewing passion from ordinary to “gourmet.”
Meet the second Tuesday of the month in Urbandale.
Everyone’s welcome.

Lynette

Fuji Mountain Top
The Sewing Workshop

Featuring snaps with decorative stitches. Caution, you need a snap with a big enough center hole to pull the needle through.

Diane

A collection of felted sweaters got a new life as extra warm mittens. Some of these projects had a police connection commissioned as gifts to fellow officers, so Diane stitched a blue line inside

Nancy

Nancy models a jacket of wools made in 1994 when she taught speed tailoring for the Textile & Fashion Arts program at Central Campus. She says, "It was the best job for a sewing teacher because of students that wanted to learn." A true classic always in style.

Rita

A batch of cute critters. Most are destined for the Marshalltown police department. The yellow Stegosaurus poking his head out has a special tag and is headed for her special grandson.
